"FOLLIES" WILL PLAY HERE

Bijou Theater Has Burlesque Stars for Next Week.

That there is something new under the sun is the claim of Manager Wilson, of the Bijou Theater, he having discovered one of the strongest burlesque organizations in "The Follies of the Day," the attraction that begins a week's engagement at this popular playhouse next Monday.

The company comes here direct from the Majestic Theater in New Orleans, where it has just concluded a twelve-week's engagement. The company includes such well known entertainers as Hap Jones, Lew Kulkie, Phil Collins, Misses Elsie Bell, Eleanor Mills and Lillian Carter.

White and Murphy own the company and direct its tour. Manager Wilson is going to great expense to give the lovers of entertainment a chance to see the best in this line. The company begins its engagement with a big bargain matinee on Monday.

Third Issue of Compass Appears.

The third issue of The Compass, a publication prepared by students of the Columbia School of Drafting, has just been printed. It is a neat paper, four pages in size, with an interesting story on the Lincoln Memorial as the main feature.
Roy C. Claffin is editor and A. Gordon Hamilton, managing editor.
